NEWS CONFIRMED

The Flags of the Allies Are Now Floating Over the Chinese Capital.

STREET FIGHTING, HOWEVER, GOES ON

Four Thousand Native Christians Aided the Allies in Their Fight On Entering the Forbidden City.

Detailed Account of How the Relief Force Entered the City—Only Three Days' Rations Remained in the Besieged Legation.

London, Aug. 22.—In the news that reaches London direct from China there is nothing to confirm the report that the empress dowager has been run to earth. The foreign envoys, according to the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, are proceeding to Tien-Tsin. The same correspondent avers that the sacred city was entered August 15, two days earlier than Adm. Bruce reported.

"The flags of the allies," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail, "are now floating over the imperial palace. Street fighting, however, continues. Considerable assistance in the capture of Peking was rendered by 4,000 armed native Christians. The legations were enabled to hold out by purchasing ammunition from the Chinese."

papers. The Standard says: "We imagine that other powers will take the same course, at any rate until Earl Li produces satisfactory evidence of his authority to negotiate."

The Daily Chronicle says: "Mr. Conger has at last opened the eyes of the state department to the real character of orientals."

The Daily Express prints a long letter, said to have been written by Vice Adm. Seymour, in which he stoutly defends his action in advancing to the relief of the legations when he did, saying: "Two or three times our prospects were very dark and disaster seemed probable. Yet I never regretted that I had started, as I could not have respected myself if I had not done so."

Referring to the difficulties of controlling mixed troops and their characteristics he says: "The Germans we admired most; but for dash and go, none surpassed, or perhaps equalled, the Americans. The French had no particular rapprochement with any other nationality. The Germans and Russians were rather inclined to hold together; but the Americans were with us always."

HOW PEKING WAS ENTERED.

The Emaciated Tenants Could Last But Little Longer, Having Only Three Days' Rations.

Peking, Aug. 14, via Che-Foo, Aug. 21.—The American and Russian flags were planted on the east wall of Peking at 11 o'clock this morning. The Indian troops entered the British legation at 1 and the Americans at 3. There was a joyful reception from the wall. The emaciated tenants could have lasted but little longer. They had only three days' rations. The Chinese had been attacking furiously for two days. Four thousand shells fell in the legation during the siege. Sixty-five people were killed and 160 wounded.

The Japanese began the battle before daylight, and they are still fighting about the north wall, where a part of the Chinese are defending the imperial city. The Japanese casualties have not yet been ascertained. The Russians had five killed and 12 wounded. The Americans and British had a few wounded. The plan was to make a general attack tomorrow, and the troops were arriving at camp, five miles east, all night. They were completely exhausted and slept in the cornfields in the rain. The generals, however, alarmed at the sounds of a heavy attack on the legations, pushed forward independently, the British, Americans and French on the left of the river, and the Russians and Japanese on the right. Beginning at 2 o'clock this morning the Japanese diverted the brunt of the resistance to the northern city, their artillery engaging the Chinese heavily there.

The Americans and British met with but little resistance until they entered the city, where there was street fighting—Reilly's battery attempting to breach the inner wall. The troops finally entered the foreign settlement through the canal.

Company 'E', 14th United States infantry, planted its flag on the outer wall, Musician Titus scaling the wall with a rope, by means of which the others climbed to the top.

The Chinese had continually violated the armistice.
